Belated news of Carole's passing saddens me greatly. We went to law school together and is remembered as a truly beautiful person. (BTW she worked for Gaylord Nelson, not William Proxmire.)Mel StephensKodiak, Alaska

Indeed! It WAS Gaylord Nelson!!! Chit chat about Biden (and the Lincoln Project) bestirred a memory of coming home to the 304 E. Capitol St. apartment that Carole & I shared from Fall 1972 to Summer 1973 to find her distraught about Joe Biden's wife's accident. At the time, she was dating John Holum, who was on the Senate staff of McGovern and also on his '72 Presidential campaign staff. McGovern people had met and actively encouraged Biden to get into politics and aim for a higher level office. John had just found Carol with tragic news shortly before Christmas. Although I moved to Southwest Washington to room with a fellow classmate at Georgetown law evening division and qualify for an insider price on a pending condo conversion at that mid rise building, Carol and I kept in touch during the remaining years I spent in DC up until graduating from Georgetown law in 1976 . She and John bought a townhouse on Capitol Hill, and as newlyweds, my husband and I went to a party there not long before he finished medical residency at GW and we "moved on" to New Jersey.Carole was a beautiful soul, inside & outside. Characterized by Midwestern values of hard work and persistence. Compassionate to a fault. Still remember the night that her dog gave birth to puppies and we both became "quick studies" in canine midwifery.Saddened to learn that she has passed on to the distant Horizon that lies beyond what our mortal sight can perceive.R.I.P.Paula Hawks-DeLucaBoise, Idaho & Ventnor, NJ carol was truthful, exacting, and extremely dedicated and hard working. i know this as she was my law clerk for several years, after which i was her boss for almost a decade. her achievements of graduating georgetown law school and passing the delaware bar later in life after her career with senator proxmire indicate how exceptional and focused she was. i will miss chatting with her as i did every so often, and my sympathies go to lionel and her family.
