Kim fought many battles in her life, but never gave up. She loved her children, Collin and Diana, so very much and never stopped talking about them when we talked on the phone. She was so proud of their accomplishments. Kim helped many children and adults in her lifetime during her career working in Baltimore and Delaware. She cared very much for everyone. Kim will be missed. I know she will always watch over her son and daughter from heaven above.

I enjoyed reconnecting with her recently and hoped we would get together. I am sorry we didn't have that chance. I pray the Lord comforts you during this difficult time.
