Bea was one of the driving spirits behind the Arts Center here in Greenbelt, MD, when I first became involved with the theater. She worked so hard to organize and inspire our volunteers, and she was always ready to laugh at a joke, or share a kind word, a gift. Even after she moved to Milford, I was always happy to spot her car in the parking lot when she dropped by to visit. I have made a donation to the theater in Bea's memory. -- Sandy Irving, Greenbelt, MD

My deepest condolences on the loss of your mother and grandmother. At the Library of Congress we always thought of Beatriz on St. Patrick's Day, ever since she retired, because she enjoyed it so much. And she loved to talk about her family. You were her pride and joy. We were privileged to know her. -- Susan Morris, Library of Congress (Cataloging)

John, Vicky, Mike & Tice: I met your mom in 1979 and we've been friends ever since. We sat side by side for approx. 10 years. You four were her pride and joy; I knew all about each of you, every report card, every heart break, and celebrated your milestones. She's the only person outside my family who used my middle name. She was larger than life and easy to love. I'm going to miss my friend. Sincerely, Judy Moreland, Preservation, Library of Congress (retired)Judy Moreland

We at Greenbelt Arts Center in Greenbelt, MD, knew Bea was a treasure! While others clamored to be onstage in our community theater space, Bea called up volunteers to support our facility and our productions. She was so upbeat -- no one could say "no" to Bea! She is one of the reasons I am so active at GAC today. When Bea moved to Delaware she was greatly missed, and now I am sure her family, friends, and community miss her too. Malca Giblin
