Florence Annette Confrey

MAR 7, 1950 - OCT 1, 2017

Florence A. (Traversaro) Confrey, 67, of Rehoboth Beach passed away on October 1, 2017 at her home surrounded by the love and support of her family. She was born Tuesday, March 7, 1950, in New York City, N.Y., daughter of the late Anthony and Esther (Shursky) Traversaro.

Florence is an alumna of St. John's Villa Academy High School and Wagner College both located in Staten Island, New York. She earned a Bachelors Degree in Psychology from Wagner College in 1972. In her career, Florence started as a local Citibank branch teller working her way to eventually becoming one of the first female executives as a Vice President managing major contract negotiations. She worked for more than 35 years for Citigroup in New York at their locations at 111 Wall Street, 425 Park Avenue and Long Island City in Queens, NY. She was highly regarded among her colleagues, known for being a consummate professional, an expert negotiator and being very personable. Many of Florence's academic and business relationships remained lifelong friendships.

In her free time, Florence was known for her talent in cooking; creating wonderful meals that reflected her Italian and Jewish heritage. She enjoyed travelling, having visited Australia, most of Europe, Canada, Mexico and many trips within the United States. She spent her later years with her husband Paul devoting time and love to her grandson Thomas Norberg, who was her pride and joy along with her son Rick and daughter-in-law Rebecca.

Florence is survived by her husband, Paul Confrey of Rehoboth Beach; her son Rick Norberg, daughter-in-law Rebecca Norberg and grandson Thomas Norberg of Vernon, NJ, and many loving family members and friends.

Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 11:00 AM on Saturday October 14, 2017 at Saint Jude's the Apostle Catholic Church, 152 Tulip Drive Lewes, DE 19958. Interment will be private.

My Aunt Florence was a wonderful person. She was funny and kind . I have many memories of spending Christmas Eve at her home in Warwick. She always made everything so festive and beautiful. She opened her home to all and crowds of friends and family would come and go. She really listened to people and thought about others. She was generous and kind. She gave me pearls to wear on my wedding day that I treasure. The most important thing to Aunt Florence was her family. She would help anyone who asked. Every time she was in the vicinity of family ,she would make an effort to see them. She will be greatly missed.

Florence and I met 35 years ago when she worked for Citigroup and I worked for Toshiba. We started our relationship as customer and vendor but as the years went on our relationship grew into a personal friendship. One memory I have of Florence that I will share will speak to her integrity, fairness and respect she had with the people she dealt with in business. When I left Toshiba and joined Symantec I contacted Florence she was in charge of all the software purchases at the bank and Symantec wanted to introduce new software but they did not know who to call. I introduced them to Florence and ultimately she procured a million dollars in software for the bank. She found out that I would not get credit for this transaction and without my knowledge contacted the Global VP of Sales and conveyed to him that I was responsible for the sale ultimately I did get recognized because of her. I will never forget how she went out of her way for me. As our professional relationship grew to a close our personal relationship grew to this day I have not met anyone like her in business. I consider Florence a mentor in my professional life and role model in my personal life. Her strength and positive attitude toward life made it possible for her to face all of her medical challenges. She was taken from us too soon but will always be in our hearts.

It's been hard for me to accept this news. I've been mulling over it for days. I worked for Florence 15+ years ago at Citibank but kept in touch since then. Her strength was so great that I figured she would be around forever as I welcomed each call every few months. I'm very sorry to know that's not the case any longer. However, she has been and will continue to be a great example of how to keep up good spirits inspite of unexpected adversity, how to come up with creative solutions to complex problems and how to see the best in people. I'm blessed to have known her and her family and will never forget her and her laughter. Sevag Ajemian

Faye was a wonderful person who was always so generous and caring to me and my family. Rick's house was my second home in high school and I always appreciated how welcoming and accommodating she was to me and everyone who came over. High school can be a difficult time and us teens can have serious attitude problems but she always saw through that and treated me and my friends like family. I was nourished by all the food that Faye bought, particularly the frozen chicken parmigiana that she kept stocked, knowing I would gobble it up. Faye let me and Rick use her passes to The Spa where we spent countless hours making some of the best memories of my high school years (and staying out of trouble) swimming, working out, and playing ping pong and basketball. I remember how Faye was so glad to know we had a good time. I didn't realize then how impactful that was for me. I would not have had any of those experiences if it were not for Faye's generosity. Faye and Paul also were good friends with my parents. As time went on and I was raising my family in NYC, I lost touch with Rick for a while but when I did visit Warwick my parents always mentioned that Faye said to come over anytime for a visit so we did and one of our early visits about 13 years ago my wife and 3 young daughters spent the day and had a wonderful time. The girls still remember that visit today. It was around the time that Faye started her health battle but she was always positive and concerned about everyone else. Since then I'm grateful I reconnected to Rick and saw the pride and joy on Faye's face as Rick married his wonderful wife Rebecca and welcomed her beautiful grandson Thomas and I've always admired Faye's resilience and determination. Each time I've seen her she was so encouraging and warm and always extended invitations to us to visit, be it Warwick, South Carolina or Delaware. We also laughed about the high school antics Rick and I used to pull, especially the big party we had when she and Paul went away. Faye had such a great sense of humor. My thoughts and prayers are with Rick, Rebecca, Paul, Thomas and all the family and friends. Faye will live on in my heart always. Tim Gamory

It was a warm summer night in Central Park playing softball for my team at Citibank that Florence and I met. As usual when the game ended we all went to one of the pubs on the Upper East Side for food and drinks. It was 1982 and was the beginning of a friendship that would shape my life. Many things have happened since then both good and bad. The one thing I could always count on was Florence to be there for me as I was for her. I can only hope that all of you have a friend in your life that gives you the love and support that we shared. Florence will always be in my heart and give me what I need to love all those around me. There aren't enough words to express how much Florence meant to me and my family. I first met her when I was 19 years old. She was "stuck" with me as a college intern, a job which my father got for me pulling the great old "Citi Strings" as he called it. She took me under her wing as a boss and as my mentor for years to come. Florence always treated me with the same respect as she did the executives that she worked with. She never made me feel like I was anything but her equal. I would not be where I am in life today and my career if it wasn't for everything that she did for me and taught me especially after my father passed. Florence had a way with words and a way with people. She always knew how to explain the most complicated situation using the simplest of analogies. She would compare contract negotiations to buying a refrigerator at home depot. Everything always made sense after a discussion with her. She is by far the smartest person I ever worked for. Respected by everyone for her honesty and integrity. Always doing what was best for everyone not just what would have been best for her. I will miss our trips together as we had many over the years with her and Paul joining my family on some fun trips to either Disney, a cruise, or her always generous open invitation to the beach which my kids completely enjoyed. But above all, I always miss how she never judged or forced her opinions on anyone, but rather offered valuable and always truthful advice. My dear friend, I will never forget you. Love always Patty (Cunningham) Dasaro

Florence or "Mo" as I called her was like a second mom to me. Rick and I have been friends since the 6th grade and Mo always treated me like family. She was so generous and caring. She would ask me or any of Rick's friends that were over what they liked to eat when she was going grocery shopping so we'd all have what we wanted when we visited. She was a great cook too! Mo consistently checked up on me to see how I was doing and offered some of the best advice I've ever gotten. If I got in a bind she was always the first to offer assistance. When I was dating my late wife Jennifer and introduced her to Mo, she let me know that I found a great girl and encouraged me to be good to her. Jen and I dated for years and when Mo thought I was dragging my feet about getting engaged I said her "I am saving for a ring, and these things take time". A couple of days later Rick called and said that Mo wanted to take me and him out to dinner for a talk. That night at dinner she asked how much I wanted to spend on a ring for Jen and when I told her she took out her checkbook and gave me the money because she didn't want money to be the reason I was waiting. She thought Jen and I should be together and she wanted me to be happy. I will always be grateful to have had her in my life. I'm sure you will hear many stories like mine because that's the type of person she was, selfless, caring, generous and incredibly intelligent. She will be missed! My sincere condolences to Paul, Rick and all of Mo's family and friends!

I know Thomas will be hearing beautiful stories about his Nana when he is a grown man and he will share the essence of his grandmother with his friends and family. Maryellen Lamb shared a photo to the Tribute Wall album.

Florence and I went to St John Villa High School together. Our lives went in other directions. I left the USA to live in the UK and many years went by, but I was visiting NY and managed to get in touch. At the time she was living upstate NY. We met up at Penn Station. As it was more than 3 hours bus journey, I said I wanted to go to the Ladies Room. Florence said its not safe here. But then 1 minute later we saw a couple of police enter the Ladies. She grabbed me by the shoulders and flung me at the room. "Go now" she said. When I got out, we started laughing and laughed most of the journey. Ricks memory of how good a cook she was reminded me of a memory she sent for my Mothers memory book some years ago. Florence and I used to travel to Manhattan when we were 15/16. It was a long journey back to Staten Island for Florence and it was in the days before cell phones. Here is Florence's recipe for Pork chops like her Mother used to make! It makes me cry with laughter. My Mother and Florence were always special friends and spoke every year at least twice to share memories of NYC. I will miss Florence. She was VERY special. LATE AGAIN PORK CHOP This is an old family recipe that my Mother served frequently. It took hours of loving preparation, as you will see. I'm sure every mother has a similar dish that fondly reminds her of her most tardy child. Prepare this dish if you would like a late night "well done" meal or you are expecting guests to arrive after midnight. My Mom always seemed to know just when I'd be 3-5 hours late.

Ingredients: 4 Center cut pork chops
 Dash of black pepper
 Dash salt
 1/4 warm water
 1 cup of your favourite homemade tomato pasta sauce

Bake at 375 degrees for 8-12 hours
 Arrange 4 chops in oven proof baking dish (one that withstand oven temperatures for long periods of time)
 Sprinkle with Salt and Pepper
 Add water to bottom of pan
 Pour tomato sauce over chops
 Bake for 8-12 hours until nicely burnt.

Towards end of baking time (after about 3 hours) begin to call the classmates of your late again teenager to find out why they have not called to tell you they will be late. Many a teen has a petrified pork chop laminated and mounted as a loving memory of their childhood days. (I still have extras) Of course, no two cooks can make this dish and produce the exact same results my Mom could, I know I can't.

Dear Rick and Rebecca, Florence and I were best friends, as close as sisters. I was fortunate to have her as part of my life for almost 30 years. We met through the PTA, when our children were in school together. When we established a cultural committee to bring the arts to the students, and the orchestra. Then our children grew up and we shared joys and sorrows and everything in between with them. Florence was always there for me, for my mother, my children during some very trying times, but what I remember most are the good times, the funny times when we laughed ourselves silly. Then there were the Sunday morning breakfasts, when Paul dubbed us the Golden Girls and I am grateful for the most recent of these. Florence's chair at the table is still here, as is her spirit, 10 a.m. every Sunday. Florence was generous of heart and in countless other ways. She will be missed but never forgotten. Rick Norberg posted:

I wrote this to my Mother while she was able to read it this summer. Dear Mom, 44 years ago, a miracle happened. You brought me life, along with what I believe makes life itself important. Unconditional love. The day you became my mother and I became your son was indeed a miracle. The odds of that happening are infinitesimal. The exact combination of events having had to happen in perfect order for you specifically to be my Mom, for me to specifically be your son and Thomas to be your grandson. If given the option of choosing how and who I would want to be in my life I could not have chosen better. Who I am is because of you, and who your grandson Thomas is because of me and Rebecca but ultimately it all comes back to you in the beginning. From the time I was very young having someone that loved me more than their own self made me feel special. I felt in awe of it that I was given that gift and wanted to give that back in any way and show I felt the same. You strived for the best for me, and for all of us. Going to Marshall School helped me excel and nurtured the talents you saw in me. I hope to provide the same for Thomas. There were difficult challenges that I believe we helped one another through. I believe again that there is a reason that you are my mother. You showed me what it meant to persevere through all odds to succeed. I have always admired your ambition, work ethic and most of all reputation amongst those you worked with over the years. It made me very proud to speak of you and to be your son. You gave me experiences with your professional environment at Citigroup, meeting people, going to lunches and just having confidence to strive for my goals. You showed me what it meant to sacrifice for the people you love and in particular that your children are what makes that sacrifice worthwhile. A lesson you taught me was the power of decisions. How they affect the trajectory of your life. As I am older now, I deliberately think of the decisions in my family and how you might make them or think about them. I know the successes you have had in life have come from hard work, dedication and making the right decisions at the right time. You taught me my love for food. Learning about cooking, sharing your passion for cooking and good food, and making good food for the ones you love. I feel this has been a nice bond between you and I and a blessing to have such nice meals together and for Rebecca and Thomas to have them as well. Talking about our Italian and Jewish descent in terms of food, humor and culture is a comforting part of my life and who we are. I am happy to see you have travelled to many countries of the world and to 3 different continents. You have given Rebecca and I one of the greatest experiences we got to share with you and Paul in going to Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Iceland, Scotland, The Faroe Islands and Ireland. I know those are some experiences some people never get and I will always remember. I hope we have many more. You are a survivor. You have survived brain surgery twice, a car accident where you went off the road alone, and many family losses but you are still standing. Because of this you have seen your son get married, you have a wonderful grandson, Thomas who loves you, beautiful travel excursions, and family experiences together that will remain with all of us. You are the best friend and Mother I could ever want and am blessed enough to have you and Rebecca thinks of you the same. Thomas has the best Nana too. We are all connected, always and forever. Love always, Rick

Hey Rick. I had few opportunities to spend time with your mother. But I remember her as warm, welcoming, and sweet. I know you were quite close - which is a terrific thing but makes this harder for you. Thinking about you, and hoping you are ok. Your friend,Aaron

I first met Florence as a customer while I worked for Toshiba, the integrity and fairness she displayed just made you want to go above and beyond when it came to our business relationship. Luckily we stayed in touch... you don't willfully throw those friendships away when you part from business. I had the pleasure to have called her my dear friend for 23 years and the greater majority of those years outside of the work environment. I always enjoyed the times I got to visit with her and Paul where ever she lived. We talked often on the phone and she was always talking about her family her niece in Australia, Paul, Rick, his wife and her grandson who she loves dearly. I loved her as did everybody who knew her. This world is not as bright without her in it. I will think of her for the rest of my life, and I pray for strength for all of you as Florence would want you to be. She called me about a month ago, we did a roll call as it were, and talked about everybody and she never said anything to me about how sick she was. She was a very loving and giving person...I guess that was her way of saying goodbye. Rest in Peace and know that you will always be amongst us who loved you.C.Armas

My heart goes out to Paul, Rick, Thomas, family and friends. Faye was a woman with incredible strength, intellect, empathy and humor. Over the years she has become a friend with whom I could depend and I truly valued. She will be missed terribly. I will always love her for the special and unique woman she was.Trish Shaheen
