Rest in Peace my love, There are no words to express what I'm going through without you....You were my everything and now there will be nothing.You always knew you came first and so many times I think back of you thanking me for being by your side, seeing you through everything, and that's a bond no one can break or make light of. That's was a bond we pledged to each other and that is what I will always remember about us.I love you Mike and I'm finding it very difficult without you, there are no reasons anymore.Fly high my darling and I'll be seeing you.
