I first met Mrs. Jones when Kellianne and I were in the third grade. She was definitely the "cool mom" who seemed to always have her hair and makeup done and made the best hoagies and root beer floats in the world! When we got older, she encouraged me to call her by her first name and would tell me the real deal about boys and dating, things that my own mom did not share. She told me that I should always keep two feet on the floor and she was right! As I'm sitting here writing this, I'm not sure that I ever expressed this to Kellianne, but her mom played a very important role in my life. She was able to fill in to mother me in a way that I desperately needed at the time. I am eternally grateful for this and she is reason that I can have those same talks with my own daughters today. In my mind, Patricia will always be the "cool mom" of my youth.
