Susan was my new friend that instantly felt like a friend I had known all my life. We walked together and shared stories about our lives and compared notes. We laughed as we sweated in the summer heat. I am taller but she could out walk me and we laughed about that too. Her smile and laugh was contagious. She made me feel seen and understood in a short time. I still cannot believe she is gone. My deepest condolences to all that loved her. The world lost somebody special.

Sue and I were great friends growing up in Roxbury Twp, NJ. We went to middle and high school together. I have amazing memories of Sue; our small friend group was tight, and we went on many adventures, including a trip down to Wildwood in Tammy's two-door Toyota Corolla. There were five of us stuffed in that car, and we had the most amazing time ever! Sue had great taste in music; she loved The Cure, Depeche Mode and New Order. She was an absolute riot! She had the most amazing sense of humor and could always make us laugh. And what a smile! Sue was always smiling. You couldn't help but feel an incredible energy about her. Although we lost touch over the years, I never stopped thinking about her. Her frequent Facebook posts of her and the love of her life, Marlon, always put a smile on my face. She never stopped adventuring out, a foodie at heart. Sue found a love to last a lifetime in Marlon, and she was living her best life. To say I'm devastated to hear of her sudden passing would be an understatement. May Sue forever rest in peace among the Angels. I know her father was waiting with open arms. I'll never forget you Sue, my dear friend. Rest easy. Until we meet again.
