“ Dawn and I have been friends for as long as I can remember. I met her when she started dating my brother and we became more than friends we became more like sisters even after the breakup of her and my brother..I spent many nights at her house and she spent many nights at mine.. I remember on more than one occasion how pissed off my brother's dates would become once they realized/discovered that she was an ex girlfriend and she was staying there. There are so many stories and memories that I have cherished through the years and I am beyond grateful for each and every one of them.. Dawn, I loved you like a sister and I am going to miss you more than anyone will ever know..
