“ I was blessed to have a Father committed to providing for his family. Dad had so many talents - he was proficient on any piece of heavy equipment, he did electrical - plumbing - carpentry - masonry - mechanic - he was a jack of all trades. His classmates said "he could do anything". My family and I will miss him.

“ It seems that Morris' many talents have been passed down to his Grandson, Cole. Morris was certainly proud of him. As a co-worker of Laura's, I was fortunate to have overheard many phone calls she made to her father - I appreciate how respectful and gentle she was toward him. Her care has set an example. Praying the family is comforted. Greg - a friend
